SOPHANES PLAYERS PRESENTED "JULIUS CAESAR"

Julius Caesar

Julius Caesar lived again! No, not in the playhouses of New York, but in our own S.T.C. gymnasium. The credit for this production goes to Mr. MacCurdy Burnet, to Dawn Finley, the stage manager, and to some thirty other people who took part in what turned out to be the biggest and best production of the Sophanes Players in their thirty-eight year history.

A Shakespearian production of this type requires an enormous amount of work. For example, can you imagine putting over 1,500 man-hours of work into one play? Or can you vizualize having 740 lines of script as did Tom Gray, portraying Brutus. How would you like to attend play practice four or five nights a week as did these faithfuls? The above should hely HOLLYLEAF readers to appreciate the effort exerted by Mr. Burnet and his artists.

The play "Julius Caesar" was to have been shown on April 11 or 12, depending on the weather, and it was to be shown outdoors. The weatherman refused to cooperate, so it was held in the old gymnasium, but proved to be equally as effective indoors.

Truly a success for the Sophanes Players and Mr. Burnet!

NEA Conference Held in New York

The Eastern States Association of Professional Schools held their Annual Spring Conference on the dates of March 22 to 24. Salisbury State Teachers College was represented by faculty members Dr. Lelia Stevens and Mr. James DiVirgilio and students, Phyllis Trice, Joyce Poole, Winnie Wilson, and Bill Wheatley.

The theme of the conference was "Today's Teacher — Tomorrow." The opening address was offered by Dr. Roma Gans, Professor Emeritus of Education at Colombia University and was entitled "Educating Teachers for Making Decisions." Following Dr. Gan's speech, students discussion groups met and discussed topics concerning the teacher image, what the teacher will be teaching, pressures on the teacher, and other relative subjects. Following a luncheon in the New Yorker Hotel, Dr. Sterling M. McMurrin, Commissioner of the United States Office of Education spoke on "The Teacher and His Education." On the final day of the conference, those present were enriched with the verbal contributions of Dr. William Van Til, Professor of Education at New York University.

The students all agreed that the conference was very worthwhile as it gave them an opportunity to meet with students from other colleges and universities who were interested in the field of education

Honors Convocation to Be Held April 24

Dr. Albert Burke, scientist, economist, and an expert on world affairs, will be the speaker for the Honors Convocation to be held April 24. His subject is "Ideals and Reality." Dr. Burke was formerly Director of Graduate Studies of the Conservation Program at Yale University and received his Ph.D. in International Relations from the University of Pennsylvania. He has done extensive traveling all over the world, having lived for two years in Soviet Russia and for periods in Germany, Czechoslovakia, and the Far East. Moreover, he and his wife have spent considerable time working and living with American Indians on reservations in the Southwest. Dr. Burke's stimulating ideas are emphasized through his platform lectures and his new syndicated TV program, "A Way of Thinking."

Music will be under the direction of Dr. Jessie Fleming. The Processional, "Gaudeamus Igitur", is a 13th century German student song and Maurice Howard and Charles Simpson will be at the piano. The spiritual, "Walk-A-With Peter and Paul" will feature Terry Sterling as soloist. A feminine ninette consisting of Sandra White, Sara Belle Jefferson, Suellen Hopkins, Sandra Weaver, Gail Plutschak, Betty Quimby, Sara Nichols, Joan Diepold, and

SGA Elections

On Friday, April 3, between 70 and 80 per cent of the student body participated in an election for the Student Government Association offices of Vice-President and Treasurer. The offices of President and Secretary had been previously ascertained as each ran unopposed.

The officers for the Student Government Association for the college semesters of 1962-63 are as follows:

The office of president has been filled by Wayne Towers. Mr. Towers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Harry Towers, Jr. of Cambridge, Maryland. He was graduated from Cambridge High School in 1959 and was enrolled the following September as a member of the junior high education program. He is presently a member of the junior class. Since his enrollment at S.T.C. he has participated in a variety of activities. In his freshman year he was chosen as the class representative to the Social Committee, and, for two years has been a member of the Cultural Affairs Committee. In his sophomore year he became a member of the Circle K and was also elected to the office of treasurer of the S.G.A. Currently, he is serving as the Vice-President of the S.G.A. Active in the realm of sports, Mr. Towers has participated in two years of varsity basketball, three years of intramural football, and two years of intramural softball and basketball.

The office of Vice-President was captured by Terry Sterling, a member of the sophomore class. Mr. Sterling is a resident of Crisfield, Maryland and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk W. Sterling. After he was graduated from Crisfield High School in 1956, he enlisted in the United States Air Force, and is currently a member of the reserves of that branch of the service. He is enrolled in the teacher education program and is majoring in math. His activities include membership in the College Chorus, membership in the Circle K, and, the position as assistant manager to the College Bookstore. Mr. Sterling is, in addition, president of the sophomore class.

The office of secretary to the Student Government Association will be held by Fred Distler, a resident of Fruitland, Maryland, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Distler. Mr. Distler has been president of the aBsketball League and has participated in all the college intramural sports and on the varsity basketball team. Presently, he holds the office of vice-president of the junior class and is a member of the Circle K. Mr. Distler is an enrollee in the elementary education curriculum.

Ed Burton, member of the class of '64, is a resident of Bridgeville, Delaware. He was graduated from Bridgeville High School in 1960 and was subsequently enrolled in the secondary education program as a history major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Burton. Mr. Burton was elected to the office of student government representative in his freshman year and has, since then, participated

Merit Pay for Teachers

All professions in a democracy are based on competition. It is the continuing drive of the competitive spirit that brings about improvements and innovations. Thus, the merit pay scale for the teaching profession would give an incentive to the better teachers and keep them from being pulled away from teaching by other more rewarding fields. The merit system of salary scales for teachers is definitely valuable in terms of improving American education. Some teachers object to merit pay on the grounds that it may cause personal and social conflict among faculty members. However, such teachers probably are more concerned about their personal lives than with giving the students their best. Teaching is as competitive a profession as any other. Therefore, a teacher should feel no reservations about doing better than his colleagues. Instead, the merit system would stimulate each teacher to work diligently to meet standards of competition, thereby raising the standards of teachers in general.

Perhaps the major argument that can be offered in opposition to merit pay for teachers is that it is difficult to set up objective criteria for such a program. With today's modern scientific methods, studies are being made to discover means of adequately evaluating teacher competence as objectively as possible. However, as can be said for any theory, it is no better in practice than the human beings who are behind it. If the program were to be set up, the board or commission called upon to judge teacher ability should take into consideration as many and varied objective methods of evaluation of the teacher as possible. Merit pay has been attempted at a number of places — some successful, some not. It seems that the system has not really been given a fair chance.

This program can be carried through to a successful stage eventually, although it may take time for its benefit to be fully realized. If, on the other hand, it proves unworkable, then it will have been given a long enough trial period to prove its lack of worth. One must remember the old cliche "Nothing ventured, nothing gained." If the plan is set in operation, it should not be judged as good or bad immediately. Instead, it should be given adequate time to develop fully, as it has many good points which would be of immeasurable benefit to the teaching profession as well as to the general character of education.

B.S.U. Announces Future Programs

It was announced this week that the Baptist Student Union meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 27, is to be the final program in the present series, "Understanding Others." This program, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the Christian Association Room, will have as its speaker the Rev. Charles Mason, Negro Baptist minister of First Baptist Church, Salisbury. He will be speaking on current efforts of religious bodies to integrate and better fellowship between themselves and Negro Christians. Rev. Maso has promised that he will bring some special music from his church, which proves to make this final program a very beneficial one.

Future plans of the union include a joint meeting with the Wesley Foundation on April 12, in which two missionaries from Nepal will be speaking, and participation in two weekend retreats, one on the weekend of April 13th, and the state convention at River Valley

Maryland State College Chorus Visits STC

During the April 10th assembly hour the Maryland State College Chorus under the direction of Dr. Frank Carroll presented a very enjoyable program, which included: "Oh Sing Ye to the Lord" by Pitoni; "Ave Maria" by Arcadelt; "Oh Sacred Head" by Bach; "Cantata Number 118" by Bach; "Hallelujah" by Beethoven; three spirituals, several numbers by a small men's group, and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson.

Dr. Carroll, a native of Norfolk, Virginia, received his Ph.D. in music from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y. He taught last year at Springfield, Mass., and is a new addition to the faculty of Maryland State College. He says that the chorus is kept busy with performances on campus although they have recently done a concert for a church in Princess Anne.

On the previous Wednesday, April 4, our S.T.C. Chorus presently

Circle K News

The highlight of the Circle K year for six members occurred last weekend when Terry Sterling, Wayne Brittingham, Ed Burton, Wayne Towers, Martin Davis and President Jim Davis attended a two-day district convention at the Southern Hotel in Baltimore. Sponsoring the meeting this year was Towson State.

The second big event on the April calendar of events will be coming up this weekend (April 14) when approximately thirty Circle K members will tour the Dover Air Force Base in Dover, Delaware. Accompanying the club will be twenty members of the Fruitland Boy Scout Troop. While there the men will see the various phases of transportation and communication systems that are routine on this base.

This Easter, the Salisbury Kiwanis Club has decided to sell flowers and the Circle K will be helping them in the sales. Several members have agreed to assist during the holiday season, even though the school will be closed at this time.

It had been brought to the attention of the Circle K that many students were in need of tutoring on campus and it was thought that possibly some of these members could assist those desiring help. However, after much discussion, it was thought best to table the issue until next fall due to the fact that the time needed to work out the details would take too long, to be effective.

Nominations have been held for next year's officers but the final results of the election, which was held last night, have not yet been made known by President Davis.

Eleanor Jennison will sing, "A Dream Is a Wish Your Heart Makes." Finally, the Recessional will be the "Triumphal March from Sigurd Jorsalfar," by Grieg, with Dr. Fleming and Maurice Howard at the piano.

Honors to be recognized during the assembly include Achievement Key winners, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, Mr. and Miss S.T.C., Best Male and Female Athletes, and Dean's list students. The recipient of the Anne Matthews Award will also be announced at this time. No Phi Alpha Theta Award will be given this year. Contrary to the policy of previous years, the Most Scholarly Man and Woman will not be announced here but will be recognized at the June Ball.

The Holly Leaf extends congratulations to all those students who will receive recognition.

in the College Chorus, varsity basketball, and all of the intramural sports.

Congratulations are offered to the new Student Government Association officers.

In Passing:

The recent tests taken by the Seniors were looked upon with quite a bit of humor. So many of the questions were worded in such a manner that finding the correct answer, or even finding the best answer was difficult. Quite a few of them had more than one answer that would have been acceptable. It was amazing to see the relaxed atmosphere around those taking the tests. This was certainly a big contrast to the tenseness that prevailed when these folks were lowly freshmen. And, oh, those uncomfortable seats for almost an entire day was just about too much to take!

See where Art Linkletter has replaced the vacated Jack Paar. Humm!

This writer found it a little disgusting to see the Liz-Eddie scandal getting front-page coverage in the local newspaper (Salisbury Times) and other publications. Granted she is in the entertainment spotlight, but after ditching four husbands (correction, three . . . he died in a plane crash) it seems that the novelty of being front-page news would have worn off. Seems to me there could be a better selection of news than this.

Sit back now and watch the Governor and his would-be replacements sit back and tear each other to bits. Actually, it becomes amusing.

Some one has mentioned the idea of using a column of the Holly Leaf for listing the suggestions offered in the Snack Bar suggestion box. Sounds like an interesting idea, but only if the person with the good ideas signs his name, and the suggestions are of an intelligent college level.

Holly Leaf congratulations on the recent SGA winners. There will be more about this later.

Word has it that the Seniors had a party last week. Not all attended the party from what I can gather, seems some attended a movie, "Don't Steer the Boat" or something like that.

Quite a large crowd appeared at the Campus Elementary School to witness the various grades put on their physical education programs. Each class did exceptionally well and the only disappointing factor was that so many of the parents left before the entire program was completed.

Last week's excellent weather brought about many inquiries as to when the new tennis courts will be open for STC student's use. Your guess is as good as mine.

The University of Maryland had what was an excellent gesture to increase good will between the people and the Ocean City Police sent down several (55) men to assist in getting the town back on its feet. From the compliments extended these men, by those who had criticized college people in general last summer, they must have built up an invaluable account of good will.

Summer is rapidly approaching and, oh, so many already have

Chotts Chatters the Sports

"Spring has sprung" but if your fancy has turned to tennis, I'm afraid you'll have to seek courts other than S.T.C.'s (for the time being, anyway). Contrary to a rather understandable observation, the tennis courts out back of the main building are not a mirage. They are simply awaiting State approval . . . The practice net purchased by the athletic department is certainly a splendid piece of equipment and is getting used quite frequently, right Quimby? Let's hope that some really talented tennis players come out of S.T.C. By the way, did I hear a motion for a swimming pool next? Why not?

Intramurals are still underway with the Hearts in first place (3 and 0), and a tie for second place between the Seven-Ups and the Rooks. If all goes as scheduled, the finals will be held on Monday, March 9.

Congratulations go to Margie Lomax and Eddie Burton for being first semester's high bowlers.

Any girl interested in intramural softball should keep an eye open for a list to be posted in the Snack Bar. Intramural softball is run on a class competition basis and proves loads of fun. With some of the boys acting as umpires, how can the games not be riotous? If my memory serves me right, I believe that the freshmen won the season last year.

May Day is in for a complete overhaul this year. Dr. Whitney has gotten away from the traditional gowns and frills and has adopted a theme centered about the Canterbury Tales. The whole idea sounds clever and refreshing, and with the talented Hazel Joy as assistant, I'm certain that the production will be a smashing success. Hope it doesn't rain!

By the way, girls, get your points in to Joyce Poole. To refresh your memory or to introduce ed a morning assembly program at Maryland State. Many of the members of the audience said that they thoroughly enjoyed our versatile program. Dr. Carroll said that they enjoy the not often presented opportunity to hear another college singing group. After the program the chorus was given lunch in the Dining Hall and an opportunity to tour the large and beautiful campus. This was a very enriching experience.

We are already looking forward to another such program with Maryland State.

Skyrockets Defeat Georgetown Visitation

On Saturday, March 24, our girls' basketball team walked away with the last game of the season. The game started with forwards: Linda Graef, Donna Hubbard, and Nancy Laramore; and guards: Carol Arndt, Wanda Craft, and Dottie Mace. At its start, the first quarter appeared rather gloomy for Salisbury, for we made the game's first two fouls followed by a number of violations. Nancy Laramore made S.T.C.'s first point on a foul shot; and by the quarter's end, we had pulled ahead of Georgetown by one point (9-8).

Beth Reid, Donna Hubbard, and Sandy Weaver excelled as a good forward combination during the second quarter. Ruby Quillen, a jayvee player, came in as a guard, and she and Carol Arndt managed to win all but a few of their jump balls. Beth outdid herself on intercepting passes, and we pulled away from the Washington team 27-13.

The third quarter was a slow one compared to the second, but the girls hung onto their 14 point lead. Forwards for the quarter — Bonnie Dean, Jackie Dickerson and Beth Reid. Helen Hansen, Barbara Krahn and Bessie Davis filled the guard positions.

Dr. Whitney tried a variety of combinations in the final quarter as Georgetown began to creep up on us. Nancy Laramore can't be held back when she decides to push through the opposing guards for a lay-up shot, and this was a great aid in keeping our lead. With two minutes remaining, Georgetown trailed by only five points. The Skyrockets managed to hold their own, however, and kept their five point lead. The final score . . . Salisbury 48 - Georgetown 43, a pleasant way to end a season!

Men's Dorm Ping Pong Championship Goes to Bob Evans

Bob Evans is this year's champion of the Men's Dorm ping pong tournament. Bob had to defeat 32 others in order to gain this honor. Runners-up were Tom Lewis and Jim stem second and third, respectively.

Sonny Hayman and Bob Greer are to be complimented for their work in getting this tournament in gear. Iits continuance next year could possibly result in an all-school tournament. Until then our thanks to all who made this work so smoothly.

SGA Inspects Contents of Suggestion Box

On April 2, the Student Government Association board members met and during the course of the meeting inspected and discussed the contents of the suggestion box that has been placed in the Snack Bar. Thus far, the suggestion box has elicited a variety of responses from the student body and this particular examination proved to be of no exception.

Three Suggestions Concerned Cultural Affairs Committee

Three of the notes offered were of a similar nature as all were concerned with the Cultural Affairs Committee. In effect, the notes charged that the Cultural Affairs Committee has neglected to provide a variety of entertainment to the student body and, furthermore, that the student body has been denied a voice in these selections. Also, one of the suggestions offered the idea that the student wing of the committee be selected by popular vote.

These contributions were thoroughly discussed by the board members. In reference to the questioning of the lack of student participation in the program selections, the S.G.A. is desirous that the student body be informed that the Cultural Affairs Committee DOES accept suggestions and that they may be placed with any of the student or faculty members.

The voiced "dearth of variety" proclamation may be partially answered by reviewing the purpose of the Cultural Affairs Committee. As acknowledged by Dr. Wilbur Devilbiss, President of State Teachers College, the role of the committee is to project and carry through a program of cultural activities including assemblies, exhibits, concerts, and a wide range of activities cultural in nature designed to bring S.T.C. students enrichment beyond the normal college program. A second approach answering this charge may be in the form of a brief review of the presentations offered in the past months of this college year.

"Circle Sea" Only Temporary

The suggestion box also disclosed a "frustration" concerning the expanse of water guarding the entrance to the main building during the advent of 100% humidity days. These students will doubtless be relieved to know that the asphalt circle was constructed by local contractors with the knowledge that it was to be a temporary arrangement. The "shoe-top high" water problem will be corrected during this summer upon the installation of an oil furnace in the woman's residence hall.

Menu to Be Posted

Another suggestion brought to the attention of the board meeting was a request that a menu previewing the week's culinary offerings. Awaiting the agreement of Mrs. Webster, a member of the board has volunteered to place a copy of the menu on the bulletin board above the tray return station.

Murrell's Mayhem

The Benny Paret death in pro boxing seems to have stirred up quite a fuss over who was to blame. He was given a clean bill-of-health by the medical examiner before the fight, so unless they overlooked something they seem to be in the clear. Also, I feel that to place the blame at the feet of referee Ruby Goldstein is wrong. He has been in the game for such a long time that he surely knows his way around and did what he thought was right in not stopping the championship fight. Boxing does need cleaning up, but this incident seems just to be an unfortunate accident that happens, with no one really to blame.

The Men's Softball league is in the organization stage, so if you want to play, men, be sure to submit your name to Wayne Brittingham. Even if you missed signing the roster that has been posted in the Snack Bar I'm sure he will be able to find a spot on some club for you.

The Fourth and Fifth Eastern Division Playoff games between Philadelphia and Boston were sure bruisers. When the series was tied at 3-3 I was sure wishing that I could be in Boston for that last game 'cause I know Wilt and Russell really worked each other over. Pity that poor Oriole pitching staff.

Congratulations to the winners of the Men's Dorm ping pong tournament.

Jay McCrea has finally gotten off to Penn State where he will get his initial Peace Corps training. If anyone would like to drop him a line, and I'm sure he would be quite appreciative, see me.

Did you see where the University of Maryland offered athletic scholarships to all five of Dematha's starting basketball team? The interesting note is that they have broken the color line as two of the boys are Negroes.

I was told to ask the Juniors what happened to them when they opposed the Freshmen in those volleyball contests. I don't know what happened, but the freshmen seemed quite pleased with themselves, so I assume they were victorious. The enthusiasm exhibited by the players surprised me!

Have noticed quite a few folks hitting the golf ball on our campus grounds, but, so help me, I have yet to recognize any of them.

Noel Farmer finally has played for a champion. He started and played quite a bit (almost all) of the games in which Sam Seidel's team won the Wicomico County Men's League championship.

Also have noticed that the members of our Skyrockets volleyball team are getting their name per-

MAYHEM!

On its way and in full rehearsal is the second annual production of MAYHEM. This year's program under the direction of Miss Addis, Mrs. Hazel Joy and Beth Reid, seems to hold the same entertainment and humor that delighted last year's audience.

Amazingly enough, the writers have been able to come up with completely new and fascinating ideas that are certainly original (to say the least) and funny. As in last year's production, members of the faculty and student body alike will be singled out to bear the brunt of someone's dull pen.

The HOLLYLEAF highly recommends that you set the date listed below into your date book and plan to attend your MAYHEM.

Dining Hall Music
Not Feasible at Present Time

The suggestion that music be piped into the dining hall during meals has been abandoned for two reasons. Estimates solicited have proclaimed a prohibitive cost and secondly, within the next two or three years S.T.C. will be enriched with the addition of an enlargement of present dining facilities.
